Salt Earns Outstanding Network Recognition From Connect, Once Again

Salt confirmed the outstanding rating for its mobile network with a total of 952 points out of 1,000, closing the gap to the #1 spot with only 25 points. The 31st edition of the Connect Mobile Network Test shows that Switzerland can be proud of having three national operators offering the highest network quality standards, with only minor differences between them. The outstanding distinction in the Connect Mobile Network test highlights Salt's unwavering commitment to offering an excellent network experience for its subscribers at affordable prices.

According to the Connect Mobile Network Test, published on November 26th, 2024, Salt achieved its highest score ever, securing 952 out of 1,000 points. The gap to the #1 position has thus reduced from 31 points in 2023 to 25 points in 2024, representing less than 2.6% of the difference. Salt has consistently increased its score over the past seven years, achieving top results in data and voice tests, according to the Connect 2025 results. With the outstanding rating, Salt confirmed its equal footing at this level of excellent network service alongside the other two national counterparts.

Having achieved an outstanding rating for the second time in a row, Salt remains committed to investing in its network by consistently upgrading its infrastructure. The company ensures its subscribers enjoy the highest connectivity standards with best service at remarkable prices. With a 99.9% network coverage of the population in Switzerland, Salt subscribers benefit from speeds of up to 1.7 Gbit/s in areas where 5G is available.

Max Nunziata, CEO at Salt, comments: "We are proud to receive this recognition from Connect magazine, rewarding our relentless efforts in providing our subscribers with outstanding mobile network quality and performance across the country. This recognition affirms our position among the excellent mobile networks in Switzerland and beyond, attesting Salt as the Smart Choice for Swiss consumers looking for premium quality at attractive prices."
